

Savannah Children's Choir
COVID-19 Response Framework
Adopted by the Board of Directors on June 10, 2020

PREAMBLE

As the governing body of the Savannah Children's Choir (SCC), the Board of Directors recognizes its role in providing necessary guidance and oversight as the organization navigates current and upcoming challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic. At the same time, the Board commends SCC's staff for their innovative and rapid response to this crisis, a response which unequivocally places the safety and well-being of our singers, families, volunteers, and patrons above all else. As we look to our 15th Season, and in consultation with SCC's staff and many key stakeholders, we have developed this framework to guide crucial decision-making in the near and distant future.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The following principles, in order of importance, will guide the Savannah Children's Choir during the COVID-19 pandemic:

1. Above all, the safety and well-being of our singers, families, staff, and supporters is of utmost importance.
2. We will continue to fulfill our mission of using music education to foster the personal and social growth of our singers and inspire our community through impactful performances.
3. The strategies we employ and decisions we make will be to ensure the current and future prosperity of the organization for years to come.

Principle 1: Above all, the safety and well-being of our singers, families, staff, and supporters is of utmost importance.

We value your feeling of safety and are staying abreast of rapidly changing research on the spread of aerosolized viruses (such as COVID-19 and influenza). Therefore, for in-person activities, we will implement the following measures:

Facilities

- We will implement sweeping measures to maximize health and safety. These measures may include, but are not limited to, the use of personal protective equipment (e.g. face masks, gloves), capacity limitations, intentional entry and exit procedures, temperature and symptom checks, and follow comprehensive guidelines to ensure we are meeting Georgia Department of Early Care and Learning, CDC, and state safety recommendations.

Well-Being of Singer

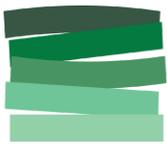

- Based on feedback from our singers, it is clear that mandatory isolation and distance learning has taken a toll on the mental well-being of young people. As such, SCC's staff will intentionally strive to create a supportive learning environment that mitigates feelings of stress and anxiety.
- To preserve the health and safety of our community, we will implement a modified attendance policy to allow singers with questionable symptoms to remain home. At-home learning materials and/or video conferencing opportunities will be made available with the expectation that singers will fulfill their personal contribution to the success of their individual choir from home.

Principle 2: We will continue to fulfill our mission of uniting, mentoring, and transforming Savannah's children into creative, responsible, and confident leaders through excellence in choral performance and music education.

The mission of the Savannah Children's Choir is to unite, mentor and transform Savannah's children into creative, responsible, and confident leaders through excellence in choral performance and music education. Even during a global pandemic, this mission will remain our guiding light as we strive to meet the needs of our singers and serve our community to our fullest potential.

Personal & Social Growth of Singers

- At the core of SCC's educational programs is the concept of Social Emotional Learning (SEL), or the development of one's interpersonal and introspective skills. Based on singer-provided data, it is clear that normal avenues for this development have been decreased due to social and physical distancing. Therefore, SCC's staff will creatively find ways to infuse more opportunities for personal and social growth during regular programming.

Savannah Children's Choir

- Should the pandemic require more strict isolation in the future, SCC's staff will prioritize each singer's personal and social growth through online means of engagement.

Performances

- A sticking point in many societal reopening plans is mass gathering, which creates an obstacle for live musical performances. Despite this, we plan to move forward and schedule our 2020-2021 season with the hopes to provide our singers with enriching choral experiences. At the same time, we will investigate alternate performance options which minimize risk to the health and safety of our singers, staff, volunteers, and patrons.
- We hope to move forward with our regular season calendar as planned. However, we will create contingency plans for all events and in-person operations which take into account potential social and physical distancing requirements.

Principle 3: The strategies we employ and decisions we make will be to ensure the current and future prosperity of the organization for years to come.

The Savannah Children's Choir is fortunate to have community, family, and board support to help the financial onslaught wreaked by the COVID-19 pandemic. However, these resources are finite, and measurements must be taken to ensure that SCC's legacy of transforming music can continue for years to come.

Tuition Assistance

- Historically, SCC has awarded tuition assistance to up to 40% of families each year in an amount totaling approximately $20,000. With the sweeping loss of jobs due to COVID-19 pandemic, we anticipate an increased need in tuition assistance for several years. Therefore, SCC will pursue a creative and aggressive fundraising strategy to raise enough funds to cover the financial need of all eligible singers.

Financial Stability

- SCC will not hesitate to alter or cancel an event due to unforeseen financial risk, especially if societal health and safety measures pose a significant threat to fiscal stability. In doing so, we will strive to communicate abundantly with patrons and financial contributors as decisions are made.
- We will be respectful of the economic challenges facing many families due to the COVID-19 pandemic as we continue our fundraising efforts.

Telling Our Story

- Successful storytelling is key in sharing the impact of our organization on the lives of young children in the Savannah area. As a crucial part in securing our future, we will work with SCC's staff to develop a comprehensive marketing and advocacy plan to ensure our story is told in a positive light even among challenging circumstances.
- We will maintain a high degree of transparency with regard to decision-making to our community, and especially to our singers, families, and financial supporters.
